The size of the dining table should be proportional to the size of the dining area. When you place the dining table in the desired place, there should be enough distance between the table and the wall so that people do not face problems

Furniture without the presence of these tables will not be very useful. Because these portable tables not only create an eye-pleasing beauty in the space; Rather, they make reception and hosting much more enjoyable.

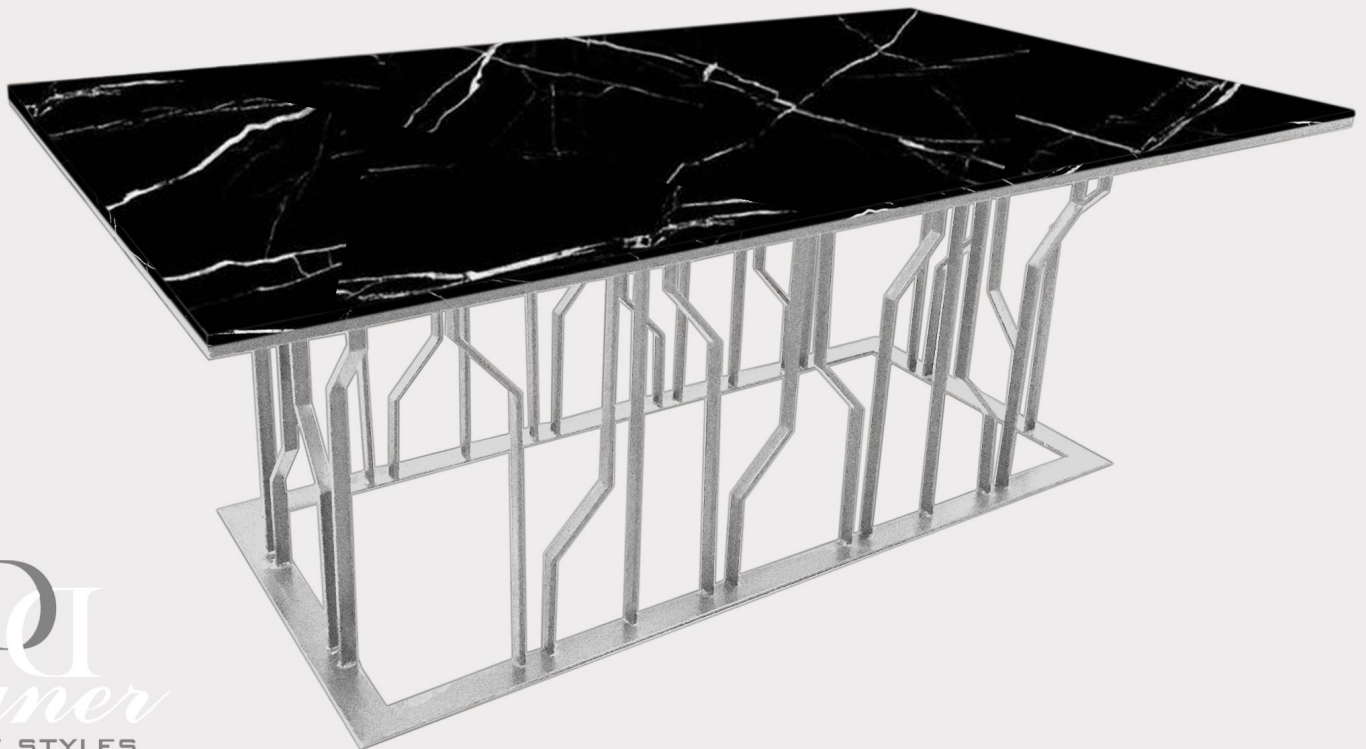

If you care about the decoration and arrangement of your home, then you know that to maintain the harmony of the decoration and beauty as much as possible, you should also get a stylish and beautiful mirror and console.

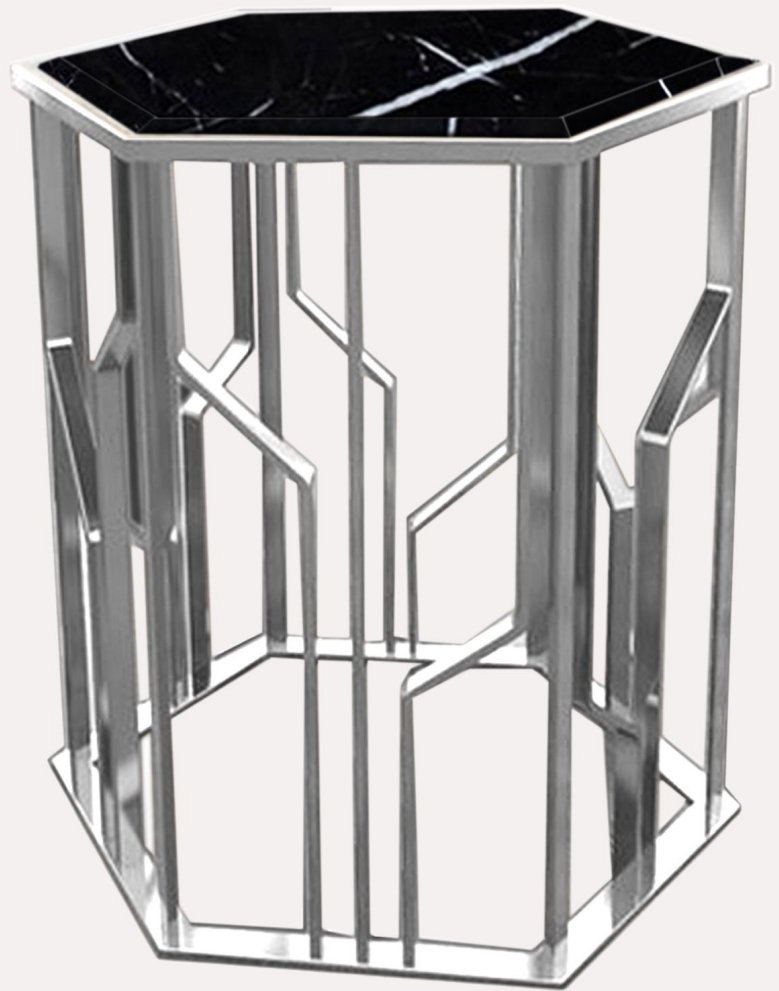

It can be said that a coffee table is one of the inseparable components of the arrangement, next to home furniture. After buying a complete set, you will definitely be looking for a coffee table that matches the style of your sofa.

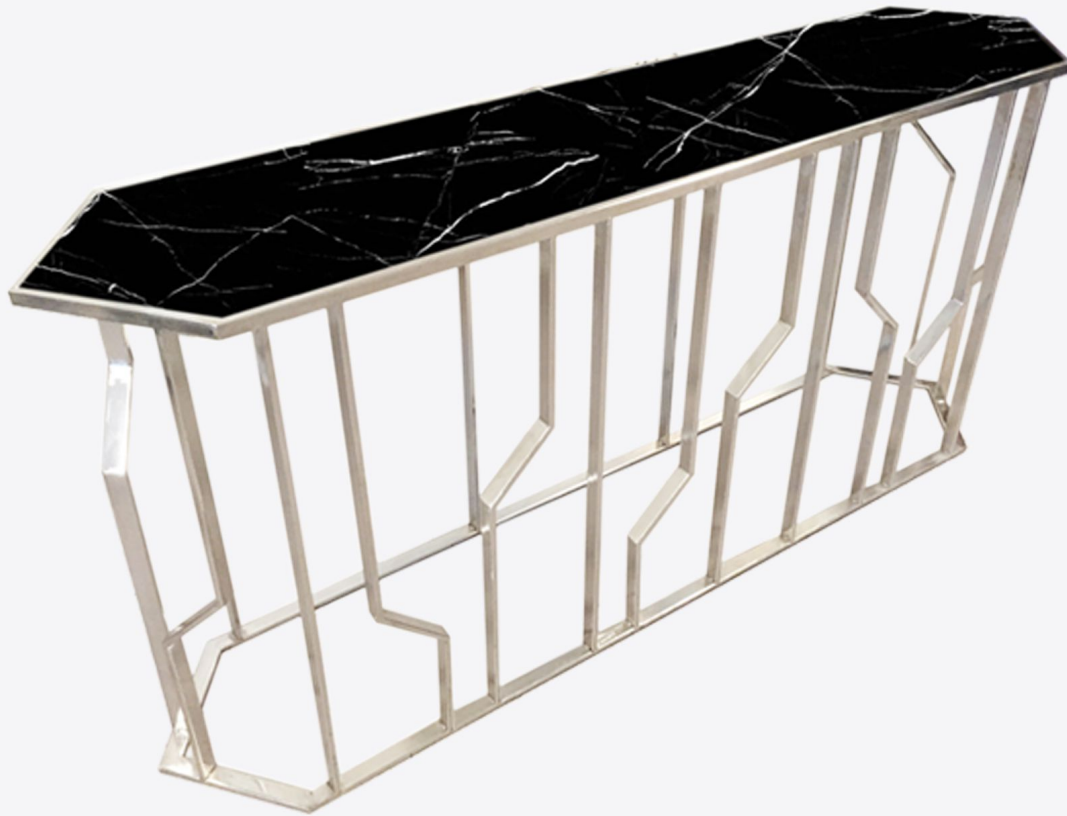

As its name suggests, this table has metal bases and a top of a different gender. The table can be made of wood, metal, glass or stone. The metal bases of these tables are usually made of steel and have enough strength to hold the top of the table. The resistance of these foundations is so strong that they can even support a granite slab on them. In a dining table with a metal base, the shape of the legs is different based on the design of the table; In some of them, four simple steel bases are used, and in others, the design of the bases is a bit more modern and special.

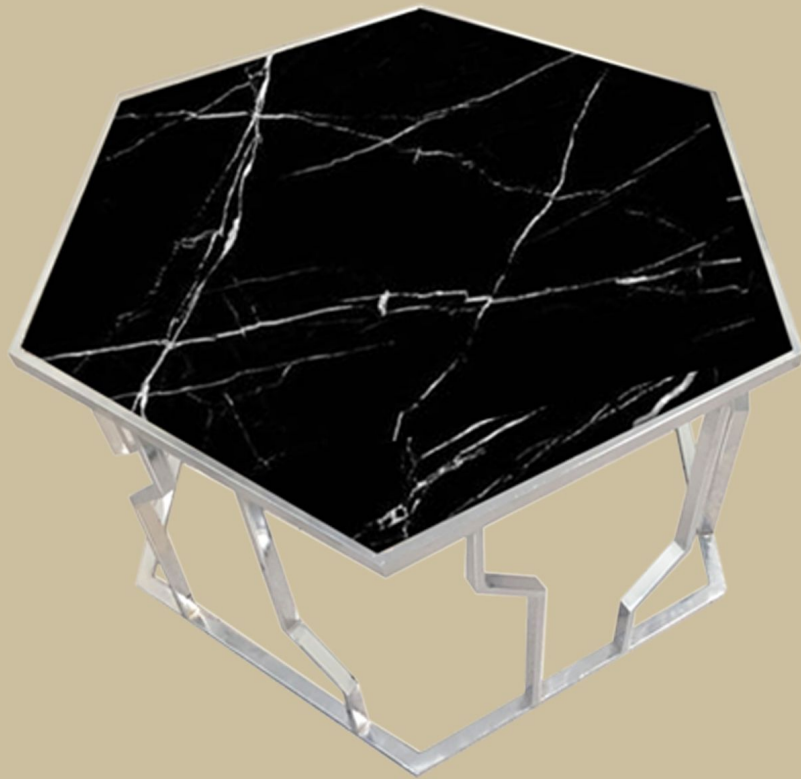

Honey tables and front sofas have different types in terms of material, shape and design. But usually these tables are mostly made of wood or metals such as steel and are used. The railings of steel tables and front sofas are one of the most popular types of front tables and sofas. These tables are sometimes produced in full steel and sometimes in combination with glass, stone, wood, etc. Among the honey tables and in front of the steel sofa, the gold steel honey tables have many fans and are very welcome. The use of these tables in large and small sizes is very important for receiving guests. Because the large tables in front of the sofa with its spacious surface contain the catering equipment in the center of the furniture and give a beautiful effect to the house. Small or honey tables are also placed in front of all the sofas and chairs separately and sometimes shared between the two sofas, so that the guests have space to place cups and napkins, etc. next to them.

The steel console table can be made in silver, gold, rose gold colors and with different dimensions and designs. The console table can be a suitable place for placing decorative objects, photo frames, vases, candlesticks, beehives, and can be made from a combination of pipes and profiles and steel sheets. This device can have drawers or cupboards or just serve as a decorative table. You can also use this beautiful and spacious table for any part of the house you want. The size and dimensions of the console table depend on your taste and needs. You can use the console table alone or the accompanying mirror. Console table is one of the most lovely pieces of furniture that is usually used in home decoration. The console table dates back to the late 17th century in France.

These days, the front table of the steel and stone sofa has many fans. This type of table in front of the sofa has steel legs and its top is stone, which makes it very beautiful and attractive.

Table bases can be gold, silver and black. The front of a steel sofa with golden legs and a white stone top transforms the style of decoration from classic and luxurious to modern, and with a dark stone top, it makes the decoration more luxurious. While the table in front of the steel sofa with black legs with a stone top makes the decoration more modern and the silver steel sofas with a stone top make it look more luxurious. To buy different types of stone sofa tables, you should pay attention to your taste and home decoration style. These tables are compatible with modern and luxury styles, and the color of its surface should match the furniture. In the types of stone sofa front tables, the style of all stone and metal base looks more luxurious than the wooden base.
